I would like to offer my perspective on the depth and breadth of skills and knowledge that Rich Fairclough of Perfect Pooch possesses in the area of dog behavior.

I have a fairly extensive background in canine training. In my youth, I was a Military Working Dog handler in the United States Air Force. In my four year enlistment, I handled Patrol Dogs and Narcotics and Explosives Detector Dogs. My last year on active duty I was the training NCO for the Military Working Dog Section at my base. After I separated from the Air Force, I was hired as a dog handler and trainer for a Sheriff's Department, where I trained K-9 teams for several police agencies.

Again, I think it is fair to say I have an above average grasp on the concepts of dog training. However, when faced with challenges with my own personal dog, Rich is the one that I turn to. His understanding of the canine psyche is unmatched in my experience, and understanding why a dog is behaving a certain way is the key to modifying that behavior.

I give Rich my highest recommendation. If you need help with any aspect of obedience or behavior issues with your dog, there is no one better to help you than Rich Fairclough!

Respectfully,
